2. Felicia Foleno earned her Master of Science in School Psychology from Eastern University.
3. Dr. Mindy Byham completed a program through Butler University in May and is now Certified in Applied Educational Neuroscience. This certification specifically addresses the research, the application of the research in the areas of brain and nervous system development, adversity and how emotional social and cognitive development are disrupted by these adversities and trauma. The AEN certification will also deeply explore the resiliency and the post traumatic growth mindset of brain reparation and healing because of intentional connection and emotional protective factors that buffer an individual's experiences when adversity and trauma occur.

As noted, part of the program was a practicum/capstone, requiring development of a real world project related to the coursework as well as our own work. For my practicum, I started (and am maintaining) a YouTube channel called Brain Works with Dr. Mindy, which teaches and models focused attention practices for use in the classroom (face to face or virtual). I intend to expand the content in the future, but the channel with Focused Attention Practices is up and running now - open and free to the public!

4. PAVC's commercial won a 2022 Silver Telly award . Our commercial "Times have changed" won a national award! It was considered one of the best local commercials that promoted education in 2021!
